[REDACTED]

To insure the accuracy of interpretation of raw imagery, it is necessary to supplement this imagery with detailed ground-truth information. Accordingly, at the time of the air-borne imagery collection, shown as 12 June through 17 June on [REDACTED] planning chart (attachment 3 to their letter), there will be seven two-man teams of ground-truth observers dispersed over the various target areas. The exact assignment of men for particular target areas will probably not be made until the week of the imagery collection, but the selection will be made from the contractor personnel listed in [REDACTED] attachment No. 1.

3. In addition to the area access requested for the time of the June overflights, it is imperative that an advance inspection trip be made of the proposed San Diego target areas to facilitate optimum selection of the items for later concentration. This advance trip is planned for the week of 18 through 22 May.
